WASHTENAW COUNTY RURAL SCHOOLS HISTORY SERIES
BRIDGEWATER TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS
(Part Three) (Continued from Capers v. 48 #4, p. 63-70)
Compiled by Cyndy Steward and Marcia McCrary

This is a continuation of the materials on rural schools in Washtenaw County. The most recent article was part two of the Bridgewater rural schools. Much of this information is found in the Michigan Historical Collections, the Washtenaw Intermediate School District records, 1834-1966, box 1, records, Bentley Historical Library, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. The Bentley Library also has more information about Bridgewater Schools in their Manchester Historical Society records. The students relied heavily on Chapman's History of Washtenaw County.

Paul School District # 2

The students who compiled the history were Delores Krzyzaniak, Donald Krzyzaniak, and Iola Trolz. They interviewed "William Schlict, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mahrle, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown, Mr. Emmer, Mr. Fred Fry, and all the parents of the children… in school."

They separated the information into chapters, beginning with the: the Schlict, Brown and Trolz families who were early settlers. An Ann Arbor News article based on information from Andrew Staib, talks about Henry Ford's interest in a log house in Bridgewater Township, said to be 112 years old at the time. Charles Uhl, third owner of the house, had a blacksmith shop moved to the property. Charles Uhl (father of Mrs. Staib) and Mrs. Harold Walz of Detroit (daughter of the Staibs) were there until 1938. The next chapter is about the Mansion owned by Mr. Rudolph Paul, who used it as a summer home, living in Detroit in the winter. "It was built from the log cabin first erected by Henry Schlict."

According to the students, the land for the "school was given by Mr. Runian. Our school used to be called the Emmer School". Later, the name was changed to Paul. The students were told that the log school was between the land owned by Albert Mahrles and Anthony Krzyzaniak. They also were told that the schoolhouse had always stood where it was in 1941 and that it had always been a frame building.

Few people went beyond eighth grade. Minnie Earnst (sic), now Mrs. Stabler, was the first to take eighth grade examinations. "Our School Ideals are, courtesy, truthfulness, cooperation, Good lessons, Obedience and Willing Workers."

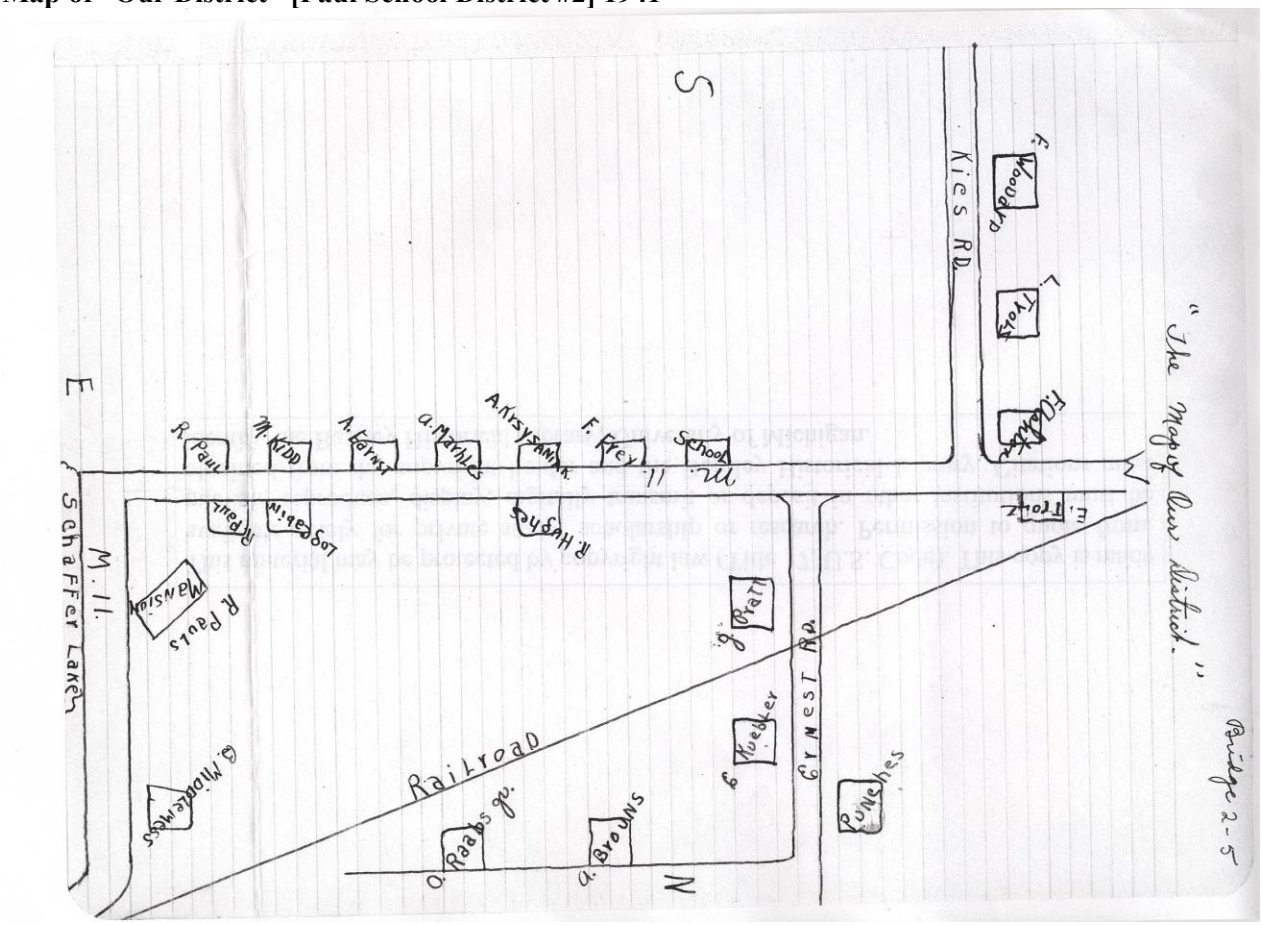
Map of "Our District" [Paul School District #2] 1941



Schumacher School District #5

In the 1941 history, the students wrote: "In an 1874 atlas we found four names which connect up with some of our 1941 residents. These were: J. G. Schumacher, Carl Miller, M.S. and Uriah Every and Will. Westphal. In 1881 a Mrs. Renanna Every was 71 years old and Uriah was 72."

"The school is located on Burmeister road. Another location of the school was on the same lot but a little to the east. It was painted yellow. Mr. Boettner, now 85, attended this school. We have a letter from him included in our story as well as from Theodore Westphal."

"The present building is 59 years old, built in 1892. The deed to the property is 100 years old. The very first school must have been built in 1841."

"In looking through the old attendance books there were many interesting facts to be found. The oldest attendance book dated back to 1887. Some of the pupils were: Sara Schumacher 10, Theodore Westphal 17, (his grandchild, Joyce is a pupil in the third grade now), Mary Raiser 14, Clara Schumacher 14, Sara Raiser 14, Anna Schellenberger, Dan, Herman and Will Roehm, Jacob Raiser 9, and Tilda Schumacher 16. Their teacher was A. P. Southnorth. In 1888 and 1889 the teacher was Leila Bond. She had 14 pupils–the same as in 1941. … In 1887 there were 25 children."

Washtenaw County Farm Bureau and Washtenaw Junior Farm Bureau Membership 1944"

(Part Four)

Transcribed by Cyndy Steward (Continued from v. 48 #3, p. 53-58)

Part four of the series continues with the rest of the listing of members from Pittsfield Township and ends with York township. There are a few more left for the next issue. The directory lists each member's name, address and Rural Route number grouped by township. "Members of Washtenaw Junior Farm Bureau" was printed previously. Refer to part one of the series for additional information concerning the layout of the booklet. Again, we thank David Doss for his contribution, and the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau Board of Directors for their permission and support in the sharing of the information in this booklet.

"THE MIXING BOWL": A 1937 PUBLICATION OF ZAL GAZ CALDRON NO. 7 DAUGHTERS OF MOKANNA, ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN

Names extracted by Cynthia McCollum Steward

The 52-page cookbook "The Mixing Bowl", was among items given to my husband, Rob Steward, after his grandmother, Mina "Minnie" Kalmbach Steward, passed away. Although she did a lot of cooking and baking, she had never been a member of the Daughters of Mokanna, nor had her husband been a Master Mason eligible to be part of the Zal Gaz Grotto group. Finally, on the 48th page I discovered a quarter-page ad for (Minnie's husband, Rob's grandfather) Robert A. Steward, plumbing, heating, & sheet metal, thus solving the puzzle of why Minnie had this particular cookbook.

The booklet has photographs of 4 members of the leadership and contains a list of officers and members in 1937. Eleven names are also listed "In Memoriam". Recipes and menus seem to have been duplicated from another publication based upon dual page numbers evident. However, some names appear as part of the many businesses listed in the advertisements that sponsored or paid for the publication of the cookbook.

Book Review: "Around the World in 80 Graves-Travel, Tombstones & Transformation"

Reviewed by Marcia McCrary

This August I called my cousin in California, and he told me about a recent broadcast featuring Tui Snider. The title of her book was "Around the World in 80 Graves-Travel, Tombstones & Transformation". It was published by Castle Azle Press in 2025.

I purchased the book, thinking maybe some of the cemeteries she visited would be near some ancestors he and I share. That hope was quickly dashed when I looked at the "Contents". There were chapters called "Cemetery Chase-My Close Call", "Clasped Hands & Carolina Wren" and "Tukutuks & Tombstones – Chasing Arthur C. Clarke". But I was intrigued. She was clearly a world traveler, and she introduced me to a new word "taphophile", meaning someone who loves funeral, cemeteries, and has an interest in death rituals; or someone with a passion for graveyards, epitaphs, and gravestone rubbing.

My favorite chapter was "Send You to the Cypress", not because I learned to look for cypress trees to spot a cemetery, but because it contained the story of Douglas the Confederate camel. He is buried in Vicksburg Cemetery, Mississippi. The pastor at my church is from Mississippi, and he said they learned all about Douglas in school, and his elementary class even took a field trip to visit his grave!

Tui and her husband toured and took pictures in cemeteries in Crete, Italy, Singapore, Egypt and Romania, among many other places. She describes some of the symbolism on the tombstones they visited.

I should mention that Tui Snider has an online twice monthly newsletter to which you can subscribe, and a website: TuiSnider.com. She has written several other books, including one on tombstone symbols. Her email is tui@tuisnider.com
